ACCIDENT-PROOF rail travel at a speed of 230 miles an hour is the "dream" Prof. Kurt Wiesinger of Zurich University, Switzerland, hopes to make come true through his experiments with a revolutionizing theory of rail transportation. His scale model propeller-driven "railcar" runs on a track inclined inwards at an angle of 30 degrees, with wheels at the same angle, to make it almost impossible for the car to jump the track. The car would weigh about one-fifth of the present railway coach, but its angled wheels would permit it to take high-banked curves at high speed.

for heavier-
than-average
breasts...

Even though youthfully firm, heavier-than-average breasts are especially susceptible to premature "breaking down." In bandeau style or with three- or six-inch band for control of the diaphragm—$1.00 to $3.50.
